

IT Procurement Management

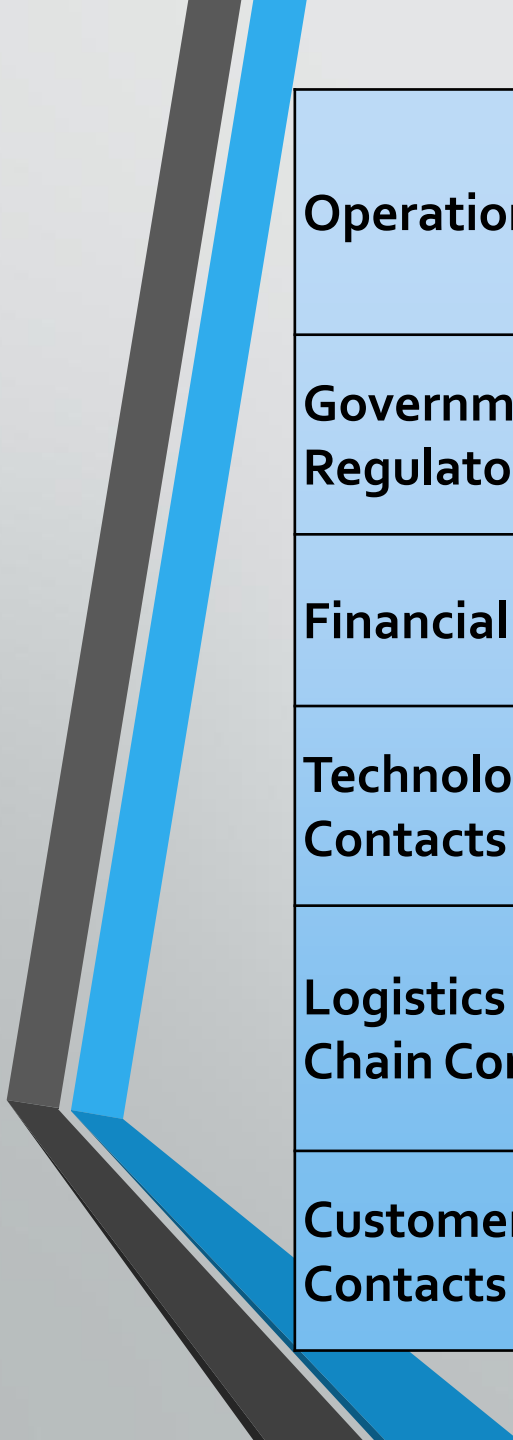

IS4105- Lecture 05

Presenter- PKDK Kaushalya

Procurement Documents

Contact Type	Description	Examples	Role in Procurement
Internal Contacts	Individuals within the organization	Procurement team, Finance, IT, Project Managers	Define needs, approve budgets, support decisions
External Contacts	Stakeholders outside the organization	Suppliers, Contractors, Consultants	Provide goods/services, negotiate terms
Supplier Contacts	Direct vendor relationships	Existing & new suppliers	Ensure supply continuity, maintain relationships
Strategic Contacts	High-value, long-term partners	Key suppliers, industry partners	Support innovation and competitive advantage

Operational Contacts	Day-to-day working contacts	Sales reps, delivery staff	Handle orders, coordination, issue resolution
Government & Regulatory Contacts	Authorities and compliance bodies	Tax departments, customs, regulators	Ensure legal compliance and approvals
Financial Contacts	Entities handling financial transactions	Banks, auditors, payment providers	Manage payments, financial control, risk
Technology/System Contacts	IS-related stakeholders	ERP vendors, IT support, software providers	Maintain procurement systems and data
Logistics & Supply Chain Contacts	Contacts managing movement of goods	Transport firms, warehouses, freight agents	Ensure timely delivery and inventory flow
Customer/End-User Contacts	Users of procured goods/services	Employees, departments, customers	Provide requirements and feedback